

Akshay Wad

Akshay is a marine engineer by profession, having passed out from the Directorate of Marine Engineering Training (D.M.E.T.), Kolkata in 1980. He had earlier done his schooling from the prestigious Mayo College, Ajmer and followed that with his final year at school at Colvin Taluqdar's College, Lucknow.

Akshay started his sailing career with Chowgule's but quickly after completing his second engineer's ticket joined Univan Ship Management, Hong Kong. Sailing as a chief engineer for more than 5 years Akshay left sailing and joined Lloyd's Register of Shipping as a surveyor and was based in Chennai in 1994.

During this time he did ship surveys and also started doing ISO 9001 and 14001 audits and in this field did audits all over the country and internationally even going to Sri Lanka, Malaysia, Persian Gulf countries, Nepal etc. He started work on his passion for teaching here, when he became a qualified trainer for ISO related technical courses.

Being an avid reader with a thirst for knowledge, his passion drove him towards a series of books, seminars and CDs etc on personal development.

He left L.R.O.A in 2004 to settle in Lucknow, and found that he had more time for his hobbies.

He soon started teaching his own brand of communication and interpersonal skills and now delivers these programs all over the country, with a fast growing list of satisfied customers.

Reena, herself is a born leader. Having passed out from Loreto Convent, Ansol as the Headgirl in her high school, she finally did her graduation in Home Science from Lady Irwin College, Delhi where she was the College President. She later completed her Interior Designer's course from Jenson & Nicholson, Chennai and then worked with an entrepreneur for some time before starting her own business. She then joined Akshay in helping and delivering his training programs.
